Project work is 'a detailed study of a subject' that requires 'a lot of time and effort'

(Collins Cobuild, 2001)

It is 'an approach to learning which complements mainstream methods and which can be used with almost all levels, ages and abilities of students'

(Haines, 1989)