A. Paul Gauguin: A complete life. This new biography, based on original research and extensive travel by the author, tries to find the truth about the eccentric painter and sculptor Paul Gauguin. Many myths have grown up around Gauguin's life story, and the writer of this book attempts to clear them up. he examines the artist's unusual childhood, which was spent partly in France and partly in Peru. He also closely examines the unhappy time that Gauguin spent as a businessman, and why he left France for a new life on the Pacific islands. The writer paints a colourful picture of this complicated man, who created some of the most famous works of 19th century art. * 1 point

B. Images from the underworld. While the cave paintings found in Europe are very well-known to the general public through books and articles, the cave paintings of Guatemala are hardly known at all. This book tries to correct that by taking us inside the deep caves where the ancient Mayan people recorded their lives, traditions and beliefs. The book helps us understand these ancient people, and also illustrates and analyses many unique works, some of which have since been destroyed by vandals. Not many of us can travel to see these amazing paintings, but reading this book gives us a good idea of what they are like. * 1 point

C. Artful collage from found objects. Many craft books today are published to promote products that you can buy from a shop and put together with a little effort or creativity. This book goes back to the basics, guiding the reader through the process of creating art by using objects that you can find in your home, or in the natural environment. The book covers all the basic techniques of collage - the art of sticking things onto a picture surface. It then goes on to suggest themes, the best materials to use, and how to preserve and display your finished projects. * 1 point
